

Playful painting pleasure: CONNECTOR paint box

Children are brimming with ideas and enthusiasm. The “Playing and Learning” range will take even the youngest ones on a colourful and fascinating voyage of discovery. Right from the start, it will encourage them to be creative when drawing, painting and writing. Carefully thought-out products that meet children’s requirements, according to their age groups, in terms of quality and functionality, are tailored to the various stages of child development in a precise and reliable way. The child’s natural creativity, which is proven to enhance the development of the child’s brain, is promoted as they play.

The new Connector paint box provides a fresh boost to water solubility: 12 or 24 rich and vivid colours, which offer excellent opacity and can be mixed together easily, provide an instant lesson in the science of colours while promoting natural creativity. The paint pans can also be plugged together and combined in playful ways. Innovative round and flat brushes and a practical, foldable water container offer additional aids for adventurous painting. The edge of the wave-shaped water container serves as a practical paintbrush holder and helps to keep the work area clean. The transparent lid with integrated name field protects the creative set and makes it an ideal companion at school or at home.
